James Foster, $60; John Weden, $16; wages of sewer Inspectors, Geo. M. Cadmus, $16.25; Howard Van Tassell, $35; Thos. F. Cadmus, $30; [illegible] Adams, $20; A H Olmsted, sewer work, $150; Orange Water Company, iron pipe, Lawrence Street, $15.81; E. J. Clark, Brooklyn, sewer contractor, $1268.08; total amount paid, $2063.

Mr. Fisher reported that the road construction had been delayed.

Mr. Schouler was present and Chairman Stout called upon him for an explanation. He said that a boat load of stone had been shipped to Newark by mistake. Enough stone was now at the dock to complete the work. He assured the Committee that there would be no further delay on Park Place, Bay Avenue or Lawrence Street.

Clerk Johnson received six bids from local contractors to do the work of grading and mason work at the Berkeley Avenue bridge over the canal as follows:

Gustav Bruett—$3.25 per cubic yard for the mason work; 30 cents per cubic yard for filling in, grading [illegible]—$3.50 per cubic yard for mason work; 35 cents for filling or grading.

H. J. Ashley—$4.60 cubic yard for meson work; 25 cents for grading.

Richard Jacobus—$3.57 for mason work; 30 cents for grading.

Edwin M. Griffith—$5 per cubic yard for mason work; 30 cents for grading.

N. B. Adams—$3.60 for mason work; 30 cents for grading.

The bids were referred to the Sidewalk Committee for tabulation.

Mr. Foster reported that a number of the flag stones on Watsessing Avenue near the station had been broken by careless drivers carting dirt.

Mr. Lawrence referred to the damage being done by the electric light wires to the trees about the town. He was in favor of taking immediate action to compel the Newark Electric Light and Power Company to protect the trees. The Lighting Committee and Counsel will look up the powers of the town under the contract and report at the next meeting. Mr. Moore said that he had received complaints from all parts of the town.

Fred M. Davis presented a petition signed by a majority of the property owners on Orchard Street, north of the railroad, for an extension of the sewer system through this street. The property owners on the south side of the railroad, with a few exceptions, refuse to sign the petition.

Chairman Stout informed Mr. Davis that the request must come from a majority of the property owners.

The petition was referred to the Sewer Committee for action and report.

The Sewer Committee promised to have a report on the Berkeley Avenue sewer at the next meeting.

Mr. Haskell informed the Committee that the appropriation of $225 was insufficient to erect the band stand on the Park, according to the plans prepared by architect John F. Capen. He recommended the purchase of the temporary stand and have the same removed to the lower end of the Park to be used by the local band the remainder of the season. Referred to the Public Grounds Committee with power.

Chairman Stout recommended that all the bids received a few weeks ago from the various coal dealers to supply the township with coal, and which were all alike, be rejected which was done. The coal will be purchased the same as in former years at current prices.

Chairman Stout was authorized to execute a note on demand at 4½ per cent with the Mutual Benefit Life Insurance Co. of Newark for $30,000 on sewer notes.

Treasurer Lawrence was authorized to borrow $2000 for sewer construction.

Mr Albinson reported that several complaints had been made to him in regard to the way in which the employes of the Consolidated Traction Company operate the sprinkler. It was stated that various places along Bloomfield Avenue, particularly in the vicinity of Raab's Hotel, the Brick Row and Richard T. Cadmus' grocery store, were not sprinkled. The matter will be referred to General Manager Young.

Mr. Albinson said that all cars did not run through to Liberty Street but switched off at Orange Street.

Mr. Albinson inquired what action had been taken in regard to placing a gateman at the Bloomfield Avenue crossing of the Erie Railroad after 7 P. M., and said that it was about time the request had been complied with.

Clerk Johnson said he had acknowledged the receipt and promised to place the complaint before the Board of Directors at their next meeting.

Mr. Lawrence reported that he investigated the complaint of Mr. Dodd in regard to the opening of Carteret Street and found "a wash line blockade."

Fire Record.

The alarm of fire from box 26 at 3 P. M., last Sunday, called the Department to a lively blaze at the residence of Michael Owens, located at the corner of Liberty and Walnut streets. Joseph Owens had a narrow escape from death. He was asleep up stairs when he heard the cry of fire. The origin of the fire is supposed to have been from a defective flue in the chimney. The roof was partly burned off and the house damaged by water. Most of the furniture, which was not insured, was saved. The building which was insured in the Essex County Mutual Insurance Company, of Bloomfield, for $800 was fully covered. Mr. Owens and family are the guests of Michael O'Haira, on Walnut St., until their house is repaired.

Obituary.

James F. Smith died at his home on Mill St., Soho, last Saturday morning, of consumption, aged 22 years. Mr. Smith was an expert silk weaver in the employ of Underhill & Lee, on Orange St., and had a large circle of friends. Funeral services were held on Monday. The body was taken to Dover, N. J., for interment.

TATTOOING.

Criminals, Surprising to Relate, Seem to Have a Weakness For It.

"It is a curious fact, to which criminologists have not paid much attention, that a large proportion of instinctive criminals have tattoo marks put upon their persons," said Dr. George S. Williams, physician of the Missouri penitentiary. "It is a paradox that this fad should be a part of the criminal mind, for a tattoo marks the subject for life. It would seem more natural for the criminal to avoid all such marks in order to the better conceal his identity from the sleuths of the law. The operation of tattooing is quite painful, but even this is not a deterrent. Criminals, by the way, seem able to stand more pain than persons of honest instincts and habits. The desire to be tattooed, however, is the strangest and most incomprehensible freak of the criminal intellect. It cannot be accounted for on any other hypothesis than that there is an unyielding and invariable compensating law of nature which operates in the interest of orderly conduct and behavior. But for the tattoo marks with which many hardened and incorrigible wretches decorate their skin many a criminal who is now confined behind strong prison walls where he can do the world the least amount of harm would be at liberty today, preying on society.

"The custom of tattooing is as popular among the female criminals as among the males, though women rarely have the mark put in as conspicuous places as the men. There is an interesting field of study here for the student of criminology. Lombroso has merely called attention to the fact of which I speak without attempting to explain the causes that lead to it, but he is the only specialist of note that seems to have given the matter any notice. It more frequently happens than otherwise that criminals who submit to the tattooing operation choose a design suggestive of the lewd and libidinous, and in this is contained the positive hint of a diseased condition of mind which probably explains the real cause of the foolish and unbusinesslike custom. The habit seems to be so universal among instinctive criminals that I am inclined to believe there must be some one or more institutions in the country where they get the work done. Few of them here will give the slightest hint of when or where they had the work done, which leads to the supposition that it is one of the numerous secrets of the craft."—St. Louis Republic.

"Disperge!"

Shakespeare, who rendered eloquent tribute to the native authority of kings, lords and military commanders, seldom shows a like respect in his treatment of civic dignitaries. Justice Shallow and Dogberry, for instance, are so deliciously absurd that their sayings have often been criticised as too good to be true. Perhaps, but they can occasionally be pretty closely paralleled.

There is something quite in the Shakespearean manner in the simplicity of a former magistrate of Newburyport, in the old day of cues and ruffled shirt bosoms. A case was being tried before him in which the accused, who stoutly denied the charge, was asserted to have stolen from a gentleman a new set of shirts.

"A pretty story that I should do such a thing when he was arrested a moment later it was revealed that he was at the moment arrayed in the whole six, one over the other. The good justice was shocked.

"What a villain!" he exclaimed. Then he added reproachfully: "Why didn't you tell me you were a villain? Why didn't you save the time of the court, the spectators and the witnesses by owning up you were a villain in the first place?"

A few years later a constable of the same town made a remark worthy of Dogberry himself. A knot of little boys had been hanging about the entrance to the town hall before a public meeting. As the officer came in sight all ran away but one, and to this lone youngster he addressed his orders in a tone of mingled dignity and wrath.

"Disperge," he commanded, "disperge, I say! We can't have no burlash here."

The awed youth did not disperse, but he moved on.—Youth's Companion.

UNFAIR TO NEWARK STORES.

Does the D., L. and W. Railroad discriminate?

A movement is on foot to make it more attractive for residence along the line of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western Railroad to do their shopping in Newark. C. H. Kinney, of L. S. Plaut & Co., has taken up this matter in his own vigorous way, and believes that he is able to accomplish what he has attempted.

Mr. Kinney has recently spent considerable time in interviewing people along the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western from Dover to Newark and has come to the conclusion that this road has so regulated its fare schedule as to benefit the New York drygoods stores to the detriment of the Newark concerns.

"Several months ago," said Mr. Kinney, "this matter was taken up by the press of this city, but was not thoroughly developed. It is hoped that a revival of this question will result in advantage to this city. Several stores have since taken this matter up, and I personally am devoting considerable attention to it.

"I have found by investigations of my own that the Lackawanna has made a practice of selling ten-trip and fifty-trip tickets to New York at [illegible] rate from several points, by the present commutation scheme, is an unfair incentive to encourage New York travel."

A Wasted Sermon.

A teacher in a large public school at Peckham has recently been much annoyed by the persistency with which one of her scholars plays truant. She was on the point of reporting his case, when she spoke to one of the lady supervisors. This lady believes in kindness rather than harsher measures and told the teacher to send the offender to her house the next time he was troublesome.

So one afternoon there appeared at the lady's house a boy. The supervisor was all smiles and attention, and she treated him to a "spread" the like of which he probably had never enjoyed before. He was soon made to feel perfectly at home.

"Now," thought the benefactress, "is the time to preach my little sermon." So she put before him the evils of playing truant and besought him to be a model boy in the future.

Imagine her surprise when he said to her:

"I ain't the boy that runs away, ma'am. He gave me a penny to come here in his place."—Scottish Leader.

Dumas.

Alexandre Dumas, or Dumas pere, lived from 1803 to 1870. His literary life began with the play "Henry III," in 1829, and his labors continued to his death, a period of 41 years. The number of novels, plays, poems and literary works of all descriptions produced during this time was enormous, few writers of any country exceeding in quantity the amount credited to this remarkable man.
